VIII INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE Economic Sciences for Agribusiness and Rural Economy

under the theme:

Food Systems' Security and Resilience

Conference Aims

The Institute of Economics and Finance at the Warsaw University of Life Sciences – SGGW is organising the next edition of the annual International Scientific Conference titled "Economic Sciences for Agribusiness and Rural Economy" (ESARE). Now in its eighth year, the conference will once again serve as a platform for the exchange of ideas between the academic community and practitioners, both from Poland and abroad, whose research interests focus on the contemporary needs of the agri-food economy and rural areas. The main theme of this 8th edition is "Food Systems Security and Resilience".

Conference Topics

- ◆ Socio-economic crises and their significance for food security.
- ◆ Food security in the face of globalization: contemporary threats, possibilities for their control, and elimination.
- ◆ Agriculture in the context of climate and environmental changes.
- ◆ Vulnerability and resilience of food systems to fluctuations in energy carrier prices and disruptions in their supply chains.
- ◆ Environmental efficiency in the agri-food sector and rural areas.
- ◆ Socio-economic factors in the development of rural areas.

Publications

There is the possibility of publishing post-conference articles in the journals of the Institute of Economics and Finance, including: Acta Scientiarum Polonorum. Oeconomia, Problems of World Agriculture, European Policies, Finance and Marketing, Journal of Tourism and Regional Development, Economics and Organization of Logistics, Quantitative Methods in Economics, subject to meeting editorial requirements. More information is available on the website: <https://www.ieif.sggw.pl/nauka/czasopisma/>.

Participants presenting papers during the Conference will receive a certificate of participation.
